Music from SEAMUS EAM-2006-2

The SEAMUS 20th Anniversary Electroclips Contest

focused around the pronunciation of the acronym SEAMUS. Samples taken from interviews at the 2002 SEAMUS in Iowa were placed on the web and composers were required to use at least one of them in whatever way they saw fit. The resulting electroclips on this disk reflect the techniques, styles and aesthetics that makes up the diverse SEAMUS membership.

SEAMUS is a non-profit national organization of composers, performers and teachers of electro-acoustic music. Electroacoustic Music is a term used to describe those music which are dependent on electronic technology for their creation and/or performance. SEAMUS strives to address not only relevant technology but also the non-technical issues of aesthetics, collaboration, education and ethical/social issues pertinent to the electro-acoustic music community. Through its journal, newsletter, recordings, national meetings and its national archive at the University of Texas at Austin, SEAMUS seeks to increase communication among the diverse constituency of this relatively new musical medium.
