Georgia Southern students present concert of electronic and digital music Feb. 22

Music students at Georgia Southern University will present their second annual concert of electronic and music on Wednesday, Feb. 22, at 8 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center, corner of Plant and Chandler Roads on campus. The concert is free and open to the public.

“This concert provides one of the few avenues for Georgia Southern students to perform original compositions in popular styles, including rock and hip-hop,” said Richard Repp, assistant professor of music technology.

The concert will include recorded music composed by students and faculty. It will also feature faculty and student performances on electronic instruments such as guitar synthesizer, virtual drums, electric violin, and keyboard synthesizer.

For more information about the concert, contact Repp at repp@georgiasouthern.edu.
